V. Reasoned statement under Rule 66.2(a)(ii) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. STATEMENT

Novelty (N)

Claims 1-35 YES
Claims NONE NO

Inventive Step (IS)

Claims 1-13, 15-26, 30-33 and 35 YES
Claims 14, 27-29 and 34 NO

Industrial Applicability (IA)

Claims 1-35 YES
Claims NONE NO

2. CITATIONS AND EXPLANATIONS

Claims 14, 27-29 and 34 lack an inventive step under PCT Article 33(3) as being obvious over Hutkins et al.

Claims are drawn to methods of inhibiting Listeria monocytogenes on a surface of a food processing facility, methods of selecting inhibitory bacteria therefore, and method of treating a food product.

Hutkins et al teach methods of inhibiting Listeria monocytogenes on a surface of a processed food, methods of selecting inhibitory bacteria therefore, and method of treating a food product.

It would have been obvious to one of skill in the art to inhibit Listeria monocytogenes on a surface of a food processing facility and also treating a food as well as selecting for inhibitory bacteria since Hutkins et al teach that a food surface can be treated then to select for the surface upon which the food is prepared would have been an obvious modification. Therefore, the claims are obvious. The inhibitory bacteria are the second population and the contaminating bacteria of the cited reference are considered to be the first population. Clearly one of skill would have expected successful results from the teachings of Hutkins et al.

VIII. Certain observations on the international application

The following observations on the clarity of the claims, description, and drawings or on the questions whether the claims are fully supported by the description, are made:

Claims 14 and 27-29 are objected to under PCT Rule 66.2(a)(v) as lacking clarity under PCT Article 6 because claims are indefinite for the following reason(s): they recite "food processing facility" wherein it is not clear what is intended within the meaning of this phrase? Does the facility intend the surface of food to be a food processing facility since food is processed in a facility or does the phrase only mean a kitchen per se? The metes and bounds are not clear.
